According on the LegalShield website, more than 57 million Americans have some kind of ongoing legal issue.

60% of businesses have faced “significant legal events” in the past two years.

As a result, the primary goal of LegalShield is to help individuals and small businesses obtain prepaid legal services from a network of provider attorneys, all for one low, flat rate.

Their plans include:

Personal Plans:

Regardless of which plan you choose, or whether you're an individual or a business, LegalShield is supported by a team of hand-picked "Providers," which are legal firms hired by the company, who are paid in advance for their services, and are supposedly fully committed to solving your problems.

Based on information found on the website, using LegalShield's services entails a six-step process:

- 1 Sign up for a LegalShield account.*
- 2 Review your membership packet, which will give you your legal provider's information.*
- 3 Register yourself on the Member's website.*

- 1 When an issue or questions arises, contact your provider law firm.*
- 2 Explain your legal problem to the provider law firm, who will then assign a lawyer best suited to address your needs.*
- 3 Finally, you'll receive a call from your lawyer within eight hours of your request.*

Based on many of the complaints we read, it appears the majority of users found this process to be needlessly complex.

For instance, if you happened to miss your lawyer's call within the 8-hour window, you'll have to re-contact the law firm, and wait another 8 hours to have your call returned.
